WELCOME !

This is the companion list to our August 1999, 20th century catalogue offering, which still remains in effect. Included with this list is a fine assortment of:

- 1) 19th CENTURY CATALOGUES
- 2) REFERENCE BOOKS
- 3) NUMISMATIC LITERATURE SALES
- 4) BOWERS RARE COIN REVIEWS

and perhaps the most interesting of all...

5) THE LARGEST OFFERING OF PRICES REALIZED EVER PRESENTED.

Recent activity as we end the 1990's suggests tremendous strength in the older material. This is only natural, as the supply available to the interested numismatist dwindles. The facts confirm this as evidenced by our good friend George Kolbe's recent announcement of selling over a million dollars worth of numismatic literature in less than a year! We heartily congratulate you, George; the honor is certainly well deserved.

The prices for early numismatic literature are still reasonable considering the relationship to the coin market. But, hey...coins have always been over-priced. Even Joseph Mickley thought that very thing in October of 1867 when his 1804 dollar sold for $750.

So, if you have the desire to learn about American numismatics, or if you wish to research a certain coin or series of coins, the way to get the information is to create a library with auction catalogues as a foundation. There are several ways to do this. A commentary can be found on page 16 about fixed price lists and mail bid sales.

As always, Jenny and I say "THANK YOU" for your interest; and we wish everyone "HAPPY HOLIDAYS" as we prepare for the exciting year of 2000!

Best wishes,

Karl & Jenny Moulton

19TH CENTURY AUCTION CATALOGUES

These sales represent the core of American numismatics. The first coin auction of note was the Lewis Roper Sale in 1851. By the end of the 1850's many collectors were active from Philadelphia to Boston. The big market was in Proof sets, thanks to a friendly mint director who was happy to oblige any and all orders – including himself. These early collectors sold their duplicates, and acquired missing pieces to help fill in their collections by bidding in auction sales, just like now.

Names like McCoy, Mickley, Cohen, Jenks, Stickney, Garrett, etc. are remembered today; and any coins accurately pedigreed are highly prized items indeed. Interestingly, the collector of this time did not focus on top quality type coins. His main interest was apt to be U.S. & World Medals, George Washington items, Early Copper, Tokens, Ancients, and Colonials.

Dealers like Ed Cogan, W.E. Woodward, William Strobridge, A.B. Sage, Ebenezer Mason, John Haseltine, Ed Frossard, Sigismund Harzfeld, the Chapman brothers, H.P. Smith, H.G. Sampson, David Proskey, George Massamore, and Charles Steigerwalt all presented many fine auction sales. At times there were more than 60 combined sales by the dealers listed above in a single year. That's more than one sale per week! Public disputes such as Cogan vs Mason, Frossard vs Woodward, Harzfeld vs the U.S. Mint, and virtually everyone vs the Chapman's cataloguing the Bushnell sale, all added spicy ingredients to the marketplace. It was truly an interesting time in American numismatics.

The record price for any 19th century catalogue is $9,500. That was the price paid last June for Charles Bushnell's priced and named Lewis Roper sale. Since auction catalogues represent the base reference for any numismatic research, the very limited supply will dictate an increased value and desirability as time goes on.

We offer the finest selection of 19th century sales available in the country today at fixed prices. Check the listings carefully and favor us with your choices.

Collecting these early sales is challenging, but not really expensive. It's an exciting adventure trying to complete a set from any one of these pioneer dealers. This writer has been enjoying this form of bibliomania for years now.

The following selection provides you with an opportunity to choose a 100+ year old coin sale at a price that will seem reasonable, if not downright cheap, as we head into the 21st century. You, too, can join in the fun. We will be happy to offer opinions, insights, and answers to any questions that come our way.

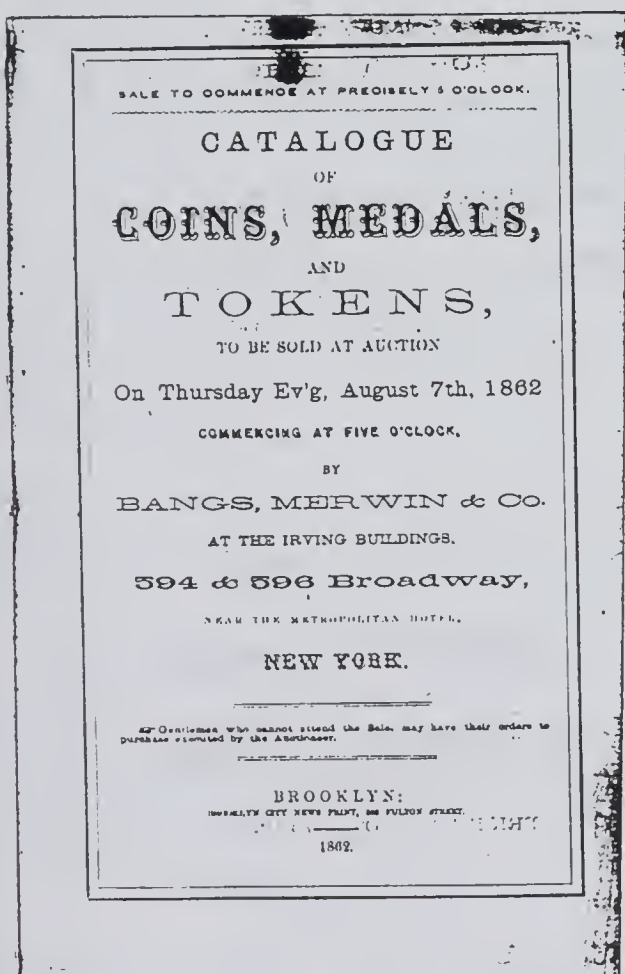

All catalogues are in very good to fine condition. Notable defects are described. Due to their age and the quality of paper used, all are quite fragile. HWP indicates Hand-Written Prices. Check our Prices Realized Lists Available section to purchase PR's when available.

This sale contained the only circulated example of an 1827/3 quarter. Mr. White had owned this coin before 1867 as verified in a letter written by cataloguer Ed Cogan. The apparent buyer of this coin was Nicholas Petry. When the sale of his collection took place in May of 1893, the Chapman brothers failed to make note of this pedigree. Instead, the Chapman's created a misleading story about the piece being found in circulation. The coin was purchased by Virgil Brand at the Petry sale. It remained in his collection until his death in 1926. In October of 1937 a probate judge divided the Brand collection in half between his two younger brothers, Horace and Armin. Armin consigned the coin to Wayte Raymond and it appeared in the December 21, 1937, J.C. Morganthau sale #384 as lot #175. Louis Eliasberg bought this coin and it remained in his collection until the Eliasberg Collection sale in April of 1997 by Bowers & Merena. The Clapp family never owned this piece. This is the first accurate pedigree about this particular coin to appear in print ..... 50.

All are fully useable copies and we have tried to accurately note any of these faults.

Fixed Price List or Mail Bid Sale -- Which is Better ?

by Karl Moulton

Presently, there are no periodical printed price guides for numismatic literature. We can only judge the market by prices realized at auction because today this is how most literature changes hands.

We have been one of the very few literature dealers to issue regular fixed price lists over the years. Why? There are several reasons:

- 1) We have a large inventory in stock (over 10,000 items).
- 2) We have the largest selection of Prices Realized lists in the country.
- 3) We offer the best prices.

SO, LET'S TALK PRICES

It's a well-known fact that a single item being offered at auction usually brings more than what it is worth. This is because of "auction fever" at a public auction. But what about mail bid sales? There is no direct competition, yet many times we see very high bids on seemingly common material. This is due partly to the cataloguer placing estimates for each lot and then not accepting any bids less than 50% of that estimate. To put it another way -- the mail bid sales are, in effect, minimum fixed price lists. So watch out, you could get railroaded.

Here are a few recent examples from one mid-western literature dealer. Keep in mind the buyer has to pay a 10% buyer's fee, plus a $2.00 per lot "processing fee".

In this sale are found the following:

Lot #138 -- a S.J. Kabealo catalogue, April 29, 1962, at $55. If you are lucky and get it for ½ the estimate, it would still total over $30. We have one at $4.

Lot #142 -- A Katen catalogue, March 18, 1948 at $35. We price it at $8.

Lot #190 -- Pinetree, April 28, 1975 at $35. We have them at $6.

Lot #197 -- Ponterio, June 23, 1981 at $35. We price it at $6.

and here's a real interesting one:

Lot #320 -- Washington Coin Exchange, March 4, 1967 estimated at $70. To win the lot in this sale, the minimum cost to the buyer would be over $40. We have one at $4! That's a 10 to 1 ratio on the price of a single catalogue in the same time frame.

Estimates are fine if they are realistic, but the practice of not accepting bids of less than 50% of the cataloguer's estimate is questionable to this writer. If they want a minimum or opening bid, then it should be stated and listed as such. I urge discussion among other literature dealers and collectors to address this practice to determine whether it is beneficial or should be reworded.

As with coins, there seems to be no end in sight for the 10-15% "buyer's fee", but just remember -- with a fixed price list offering such as this one, there are no extra "buyer's fees" involved.

Comments are welcome. Thank you.

Karl Moulton

Unfortunately, some stupid schmuck put varathane on the covers to preserve them. They are now stuck together in a most interesting fashion, but the contents are undamaged. The first buyer owns them for..... 20.

Numismatic literature the 'sleeper'

Guest Commentary

Karl Moulton,
a collector and dealer
in numismatic literature, operates Great American
Sales in Congress, Ariz.

Most people involved in numismatics today collect coins, medals, tokens, currency and exomunia. They actively search for pieces to add to their collection and, in most cases, pay well over face value. Why? Because of awareness and acquired knowledge.

An acquaintance recently asked, "Why would anyone pay anything over face value for old money?" Outside of numismatic circles, that's actually a very good question. It's like asking why a firefighter runs into a burning building when everyone else is running out.

Awareness and acquired knowledge help keep our interest alive. Most people involved in numismatics are aware of numismatic literature in one form or another. Publications such as the "Red Book," "The Graysheet," Coin World and Numismatic News are read extensively, even at coin shows. Other publications that are often found at the bigger events are coin auction catalogs, and why not? They have been around since the very beginnings of numismatics in this country. The first all-coin auction (Lewis Roper) took place in 1851. Perhaps you are not aware of this, but a priced and named copy of that catalog sold earlier this year for nearly $10,000.

The current record for a United States coin auction catalog is $10,450. It was the 1912 bid book of the George Earle sale by Henry Chapman. This four-page, 1860-printed prices realized list (the first ever printed in this country) recently sold for over $400. That's $100 per page, just for the prices realized on 801 lots. That makes it worth more than its weight in gold. If you are not impressed with these numbers, here's another figure to consider. A unique run of 19th century coin dealer W. Elliot Woodward's first eight semi-annual sales (his own bound, large paper, interleaved copies) from 1862-66 recently realized $38,500 at the Harry Bass public auction conducted by George Kolbe.

If you think that's a lot of money for eight old coin auction catalogs, allow me to clue you in. The truly rare American numismatic items are found in literature, not in coins. There are numerous U.S. coins that sell for similar prices. I'll cite one example that recently sold for the exact same amount. It was an 1831 quarter eagle graded Mint State 63. There are probably a dozen or more examples known in Uncirculated condition. Sure, it's nice property to own, but it's not really rare as is the unique run of Woodward's.

Here's the reason for this commentary. The last time this run of Woodward sales was offered in 1968, it sold for just $55! I was a collector and dealer back then, and I can't think of any coin or piece of currency sold for $55 in 1968 that would realize $38,500 at auction today. After checking all the major sales held during 1968, I found there was nothing even close. Still not convinced that numismatic literature is a good investment?

On a more recent note, the 1993 two-volume reference guide by Q. David Bowers titled Silver Dollars & Trade Dollars of the United States sold at public auction for $484. You could have ordered a hard-bound set from Bowers' Rare Coin Review No. 91 in 1993 for just $89. What other numismatic item, new in 1993, has increased more than five times its original issue price? Hello, are the lights coming on yet? Within the last two years, the Louis E. Eliasberg and John J. Pitman U.S. coin collections were sold. Many new records were realized and, consequently, a few coin dealers touted coins as a superb investment. There were even several comparisons made about coins and the stock market. As a numismatic literature dealer today, I wish to state I am not promoting numismatic literature as the best investment for financial gain; my desire is to make people involved in numismatics aware there is another overlooked and vastly under-priced collectible area within the hobby. There is no sensationalism in stating the facts about prices realized at a legitimate public auction.

Probably the greatest profit to be realized concerning numismatic literature is the fact you can do more than just examine it and then put it away in a vault. You can open the covers to read and learn about the numismatic past, which really helps your understanding about this "crazy affliction" we share. Remember, without awareness and knowledge, you would still think of money only as something to spend. Start acquiring numismatic literature — you'll be glad you did. GM
